Everything I am saying is the truth. In addition, communication has been a complete joke. I ask for changes and several times you have told me you are too busy. Probably because this is your 2ND job!

In addition, you did not tell me it would cost me more money, that this was initial budget because I told you from start I didn't have anymore money to put towards site. You are not even close to finishing website and now you are requesting more money. You did this same thing with Titledown Oil.

You are even backpedaling now, trying to update the site as we speak. As well, you say you will no longer continue to work on site because I mentioned the word sue. In addition, you messaged me asking me to sign an NDA before you will even release the work done.
